GRASS FIRES
They've started.
The grass fires.
And from the appearance of
things we are going to have many this year unless some action is taken to prevent them.
The Richmond Fire Department has been called out twice
during the last seven days to protect property from the grass
fires which although harmless
in both cases might have developed into raging infernos
destroying a great deal of property.
Conditions this spring were
ideal for the growth of vegetation from Dame Nature took advantage of every situation.
A crop of grass such as has seldom been seen has grown
about the city. This grass is now drying and in the course
of a few weeks or even days
will be as combustible as gun
cotton.
No one is to blame for this
and we will have to contend
with this situation until the
outlying sections of the city
are built up which incidentally
will not be long if the present rate of home construction
continues.
However, something should
and must be done if Richmond
wants to protect itself against
a fire hazard that may cause
heavy property loss and possible loss of life and limb.
It is true that nothing has ever occurred here along this line, but there must always be a first time and the situation
is certainly ideal this year.
We have no solution to offer
but think that one should be found. The fireman we realize are all busy but we wonder
if it would not be possible to start now and by small regulated fires burn off this area
in a manner that would be
without any grave danger.
A high wind such as we have had a number of times this
year would carry the embers
and once it is started the raging inferno would be a close second to the prairie fires of the middle west, with the flying embers setting fire to dry
shingle roofs and everything else in its way.
It is always too late to lock
the barn after the horse has been stolen but we believe that precautions could be taken at this time which would preclude the possibility of a disastrous grass fire here such
as have been suffered in other cities under similar conditions.

MCPHERSON AID FAILS TO KEEP POLICE DATE

FORMER RADIO
MAN IS SOUGHT
BY L. A. POLICE

Further Questioning of Ormiston
on Evangelists Disappearance to be Attempted
(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—At
a late hour tonight Kenneth G.
Ormiston, former radio announcer
of Angelus Temple had not kept
his appointment with Captain Herman Cline of the Los Angeles
police and the detective chief who
all day had been confident that Ormiston would see him was frankly disappointed.
Following a day spent in picking up clues in various towns
along the coast highway, Captain Cline arrived in this city shortly
after dark from the south firmly convinced Ormiston would meet
him tonight at the California hotel.
Before he left Los Angeles Tuesday afternoon Cline had wired Ormiston in San Francisco to meet him tonight without fail in this city.
Although Ormiston had been previously questioned by Captain
Joe Taylor of the Los Angeles
detective bureau last week, Cline,
chief of the bureau had missed
talking to Ormiston in Los Angeles by only a few minutes.
"I wanted to confer with Ormiston
when Captain Taylor questioned him last week," Cline said
tonight, "but by the time I returned to my office from Venice
Ormiston was on his way north."
So late last night Cline appeared to San Francisco newspapers
to broadcast an appeal for Ormiston
to "come in" and see him.
He also requested that Angelus
Temple broadcast the same appeal
by radio in the hope that the
radio technician would answer the summons.
Cline's efforts to find Ormiston
in San Francisco and Oakland,
were in vain.
The radio man had been in
almost daily communication with Los Angeles police until Cline
left for San Francisco, the latter
said.
TO DYNAMITE BAY
LOS ANGELES, June 2.—While
deep sea divers were making preparations for the wholesale dynam-
iting of Santa Monica bay and plans were being perfected by Angelus Temple to request the Navy Department for the use of
two mine sweepers, search for Aimee Semple McPherson, famous
evangelist, missing since May 18,
was continued on shore today.
The Angeles Temple beach patrol was augmented by squads of
police and deputy sheriffs.
Preliminary charges of dynamite
exploded by Captain Fred Henderson in kelp beds, covering a ten
mile area, produced no results.
Rolph McPherson, 12 year old son of the evangelist, accompanied
here today from Winters, California, where he has been living on the ranch of James W. Pleasant. The boy was brought here
merely to visit with his sister, Roberta, according to his grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. Mrs.
Kennedy denied rumors of a possible legal battle over the boy's guardianship with his father Harold G. McPherson of Florida.
SEEN IN S. F.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Mrs.
Aimee Semple McPherson, missing
Los Angeles evangelist, was seen
in San Francisco on Saturday night last, by Mrs. Frances B.
Marshall, who described herself
as an "old friend" of Mrs. Mc-Pherson's in making her report
to the police late today.
The missing evangelist for whom a state-wide search is being made, was riding in a "dark
colored automobile with a man
and a woman," according to Mrs.
Marshall.
"I had just started to cross the street at Baker and Washington

WET BILLS ARE
DOOMED FOR
THIS SESSION

Showdown on Numerous Wet
Bills is Expected in Committee
Report Today
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—All prohibition legislation appeared doomed to failure at this session of Congress today despite the overwhelming dry majority in the Senate and House and the insis-
tent demands of the wets for modification of the Volstead act.
A showdown on the numerous
wet bills will come tomorrow when
the Senate prohibition sub committee meets to consider the measures sponsored by Senators Edge
and Edwards of New Jersey and Bruce of Maryland.
Although the overwhelming dry
sentiment of the committee foreshadowed adverse reports or indefinite postponement of the wet
bills the wets take comfort from
the fact that this will mark the first time since the passage of the Volstead Act that congressional committees have given serious consideration to modification measures.

State K. C. Headed
By San Jose Man
John J. Jones of San Jose was

E. Griffith of Fresno was opposed

A. J. Ward of San Francisco and Walter Chownen.

discussed at the session held yesterday. Reports were submitted by committee chairmen.
Among the matters planned was
a campaign to raise funds to build
an observatory and purchase
equipment for Father Jerome S.

(By Universal Service)

G. Ingersoll's famous speech attacking slavery will continue to

tive Rankin of Mississippi. Secretary of War Davis announced today.
The Secretary holds that it casts
no aspersions upon the memory
of Robert E. Lee and since it has been displayed since 1876,
there seems no reason for re-
moving it at this late date.

George A. Johnson of Crockett was elected president of the Contra Costa County council of Boy Scouts at a district session
held in Martinez last Saturday night, and authority was given
him to select a secretary to aid

purpose of awarding merit badges
were discussed together with plans

Two Inquests are Held in Concord
Two inquests were held by Coroner Charles F. Donnelly last night
at Concord.
Death due to shock and pneumonia was the verdict as to the Coroner's jury's verdict as to the cause of death of William Dubois, wealthy Concord farmer who died a few days ago in a Martinez hospital. Dubois was struck by a machine driven by Al Sykes. Sykes
was held responsible for the death,
and charged with careless driving
and being under the influence of liquor.
Accidental burning to death was
the verdict as to the death of Victor Lawson who was burned to death yesterday while fighting
a sage brush fire. No responsibility was fixed.
The inquest over the body of James P. Lewellyn, who drowned
at Brentwood a few days ago will be held tomorrow night by Coroner Donnelly.

S.O. EMPLOYEES
MAY RECEIVE
STOCK SOON

Richmond Employees of Company Will Receive Approximately Six Million Dollars
Distribution of approximately $6,000,000 in stock shares of the Standard Oil company to 2,000 Richmond employees of the company
will probably take place next week,
according to an announcement made by R. T. Osborne, superintendent of the Richmond refinery, who denied
the report circulated in newspapers
throughout the Bay region, that
the distribution of stock would take place immediately. He declared that the error probably arose because the original date was set for June 1. No definite announcement has as yet been made
by the company but it is expected
that the distribution will take place
within a week or ten days.
Participating in the plan are 12-500 employees, according to the figures of the company made public in San Francisco last December.
The shares total 500,000 and are valued at $26,500,000 of which amount $16,000,000 were paid in by
the employees; approximately $8-900,000 by the company and the remainder accumulated dividends under the plan.
The plan was started to encourage thrift among the employees
and for each dollar invested by the employee, the company added a bonus of fifty cents. Employees were allowed to invest twenty per cent of their compensations, deposit a monthly and as sufficient
sums accumulated stock was purchased and deposited with trustees
for the employees.
According to the original conception of the plan, the stock was
to run over a period of five years,
but due to the consolidation of the Standard Oil company and the Pacific Oil company, the company
suspended the issuance of stock on four years and seven months of the plan that will be distributed to the employees.
While no exact figures on the number of shares to be distributed
here and the number of employees
who will participate in the stock
issuance are available, it is believed that practically all of the 3-000 employees at the Richmond refinery have availed themselves of
the opportunity and will be issued stock. As this number comprises practically one-fourth of the total
employees of the company and the total amount of the stock to be issued amounts to $66,500,000, it is believed that safe estimate of the amount to be distributed in Richmond will total $6,000,000.

Crosland New Head
Of Mystic Shrine
(By Universal Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—David
W. Crosland of Montgomery, Alabama, was elected Imperial Potentate of the Mystic Shrine of North America today. He is the first Judge of Montgomery County and is a farmer. He has been regularly
advanced through the various degrees since he was elected to the post in 1917. All other officers were advanced a notch.
One hundred thousand Shriners
marched in a spectacular parade
through South Philadelphia tonight
and participated in festivities at
the new municipal stadium at the Sequi-Centennial grounds. The parade lasted most of the night.
There were still 200,000 red-capped visitors on the sidelines. Elaborate floats will depict 150 years
of history and progress in this historical allegorical pageant. The Imperial Council spent most of the day in executive session in addition to electing officers they became involved in heated debates
over proposed changes in the constitution.
Thousands of workmen who are rushing to completion the big
exposition buildings and the roadways paused to take a look at a
real prize of the blood and then resumed their tasks.
These workmen are striving to have the exposition building 85 percent complete by June 17. They hope to have them fully finished
by July 3, when President Coolidge
will visit the city.
Many of the exhibits cannot be placed until the buildings are finished.

UNION OIL TO
INSTALL TANKS
Nearly one-half million dollars
will be expended by the Union Oil company at its Oleum refinery near Rodeo and grading and excavating
work for the construction of five
huge tanks for the company has started, according to word received
today.
A new cracking process for distilling gasoline is contemplated
among the improvements planned
by the company.

Richardson
To Try For Second Term

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—Governor Friend W. Richardson's today announced his decision to file
for re-election and stresses his
two issues—economic state government and law enforcement.
Whatever issues may be raised
and met during progress of the primary campaign, it is evident
that the governor depends for
support primarily upon his record,
and is willing that the voters
should appraise his future course
on the accomplishments of his first term.

Crockett Has Big
Building Program
Ground was broken in Crockett
Wednesday for what is believed to be one of the most gigantic
home building programs in Contra Costa county. The California and Hawaiian Sugar company has started a program to build forty-five homes for its employees, and others in the community seeking
to own their own homes.
The new homes are of the five-
room type, many of which have garages. The dwellings are being built at a cost of from $2,200 to $3,820 and will be built on lots valued at from $250 to $750 and
are located in the Tenney Terrace
and Crockett Heights subdivision.
Employees of the company are being aided in purchasing their homes by the company. According to the plan announced by George Rolph, president of the California
and Hawaiian Sugar company, the employee will advance ten per cent of the estimated cost of the house, lot and garage and the company will advance thirty per cent. The remaining sixty per cent
will be advanced by Crockett
banks.
Those not employees of the company who purchase homes will be required to complete their own
financing.

County Veterans to Ask Quiz of Making
Of Loans to Vets
Charging discrimination on the part of the state in extending loans to veterans and that the state has acted in an arbitrary
manner in many cases without regard for local conditions are contained in a resolution which will be presented by the Contra Costa
delegation attending the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention which began in Fresno yesterday. The resolution, which will ask for a legislative investigation of the California Veterans Welfare board
and will seek an impartial distribution of the $200,000,000 fund
provided by the people of the state, will be presented by R. W.
Wills of Martinez, commander of the Contra Costa Council of the Veterans of Foreign wars.
Four other resolutions are expected to be presented at the convention.
Ralph Woods of Richmond is representing Honor post No. 413
at the annual convention.

FRANCE NOT TO ACT ON PACT IN
NEAR FUTURE

Will Attempt to Hold Agreement in Senate Until France
Has Ratified It
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—The $6,800,000,000 French war-debt settlement was ratified by the House
today by a vote of 236 to 112,
after it had been subjected to a
savage attack by insurgent Republicans and Democrats.
A coalition of administration
Republicans and Conservative Democrats—a combination that has pushed through every major bill
in the House at this session—
jammed the French pact through.
Administration leaders plan now
to hold the pact in the Senate
until France ratifies it.
Advices from Paris today that the Briand government fears to press for ratification in the French parliament until after the summer recess caused uneasiness
here. Washington officials interpreted failure of Briand to push ratification as an indication that Henry Benerey, French ambassador here, had failed to gauge
sentiment accurately in his country when he negotiated the settlement. Briand, it is reported,
fears that the pact would be rejected now and his government
fall.
Urging ratification in the House,
today, Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, said:
"Even if France should fail to ratify, I should not regret that we have thus shown our good
faith by voting for this bill."
He made the point that the House, "more directly representing the people, should take this action now, and thus show our
willingness to accept a settlement
which we believe to be fair and equitable and sound."
A motion by Schafer (R) of Wisconsin, to return the pact to
the Ways and Means Committee,
with instructions to hold it until
France had ratified, was rejected,
202 to 40.
Efforts by Wefald, Farmer-Lab-
orite, Minnesota, to have struck
from the agreement a provision
permitting France to suspend payments temporarily if she desires,
were ruled out on a point of
order.
Payments to be received from France under the settlement on account of the $3,340,000,000 originally loaned will total $6,847-674.104.
Payments would be made over
a period of 62 years, with interest to begin at the end of five years at one per cent, rising in later years to 3 1-2 per cent.

A CONSTRUCTIVE NATIONAL POLICY

W. E. Humphrey, a member of the federal trade commission, speaking to the Economical club of New York, said:

I express the faith of the majority of the commission as it is composed today, when I say:

We do not believe that success is a crime.
We do not believe that failure is a virtue.
We do not believe that wealth is presumptively wrong.

We do not believe that poverty is presumptively right.

We do not believe that industry, economy, honesty and brains should be penalized.

We do not believe that incompetency, extravagance, idleness and inefficiency should be glorified.

We do not believe that big business and crooked business are synonymous.

True, we will give closer scrutiny to big business than to small business, because of its greater power for good or evil.

We believe that 90 per cent of American business is honest.

We believe that 90 per cent of American business is anxious to obey the law.

We want to help this 90 per cent of honesty.

We want to control or destroy the 10 per cent that is crooked.

In this endeavor we want your help. We hope to deserve it.

A policy as sound as this, is bound to encourage industrial development, the investment of capital in productive enterprise, and the employment of labor at good wages.

EYES ON THE THERMOMETER

Some say, when the mercury soars, forget it and keep cool. Rubbish. Keep your eyes on the thermometer.

When the bulb reads 80 degrees mornings, think to arise promptly at the alarm's first tinkle. Have plenty of time for a refreshing bath and a sensible breakfast. Keep your eye on the thermometer and don't run for the train or car.

When the bulb reads 90 at noon, think to eat lightly—no meat or rich dishes if you are an office worker. Walk on the shady side of the street. When you return to the office, if you are overheated, keep your eyes on the thermometer and keep away from an electric fan.

When the mercury reads 92 at 5 o'clock, keep your eyes on the thermometer, and walk leisurely to trolley terminal or railroad station or parking place. It's better to walk home than be carried to the hospital in an ambulance.

When the tube sizzles at 8 o'clock, keep your eyes on the thermometer and find the shade of a tree. God gave us trees for the summer evening, and man hasn't been able to improve upon his handiwork.

When the sun goes down red, keep your eyes on the thermometer. It's Nature's warning that it will be hot tomorrow and you shouldn't dance away your energies half the night. There will be plenty of cool hours for that later.

Keep your eyes on the thermometer! And keep well.

TRADE WITH EUROPE

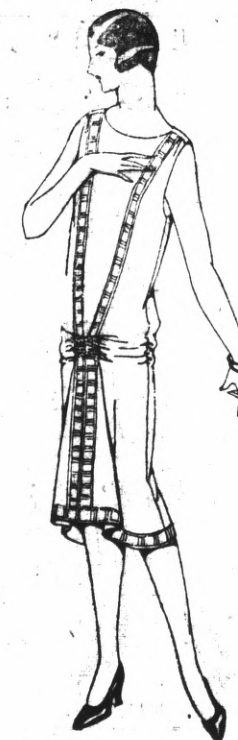

Instead of the nation remaining united, it was now to be divided—and through the slave question. Not only did the people of the two sections think differently about the right and wrong of holding the negro in bondage, but their business interests had come to be different. The South wished for free trade, as it had to buy such manufactured goods as cloth, shoes, hats, etc. As Europe could manufacture such goods cheaper than we could, the South wanted to import such supplies from the other side of the Atlantic.

But the North had gradually come to devote much of its labor and money to making cloth and other goods the country needed; hence it was opposed to free trade in these articles. It wished for a heavy importation tax on whatever it could manufacture to advantage, so as to keep foreign goods high priced and induce people to buy our own instead.

Once more a great issue of slavery in the country west of the Mississippi became a serious issue between the North and South. The Northern people were certain that if the new territory should be admitted as slave states the south would gain such a great number of representatives in Congress that it would have a large majority and could by its votes strengthen and extend slavery, and at the same time secure passage of laws which would permit the free transportation of all kinds of manufactured goods.

The South, however, was firmly convinced that its prosperity depended on the extension of slave labor and on free trade with Europe.

THE FROCK THAT FLARES

As interesting as is the frock that flares in the back, it is no more adorable than its rival with the front flare. This design in soft, supple white crepe is shirred about the hips in front and at the sides. Silver braid forms a deep V from neck to waistline, then the converging bands continue in panel effect to the lower edge of the skirt. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 40-inch crepe, with 4 1/2 yards of braid. Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2976. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

NURSERY MOTIFS LEAD IN FAVOR FOR YOUNGSTERS' FROCKS

Jack the Nimble, Tommy Tucker, Humpty-Dumpty, and Other Well-Known Favorites Ornament New Frocks and Aprons

By MONA MULLEN

ONE need not hesitate about what to do in the matter of decorating frocks for small children. Fashion again puts the stamp of approval on the diminutive and interesting company of characters which make up the nursery books, simply using them in new and original ways.

Several of the smartest motifs are illustrated here, the transfer supplying one and one reverse of five different characters famous in nursery literature. The designs will be very popular because they can be developed very rapidly, requiring only the outline stitch for the most effective work.

Jack the Nimble makes an interesting bit of decoration for night garments, also for play aprons. He may be worked in red, brown, blue, or green cotton, with the candle in white. Red is used for the flame, or sometimes red and yellow are combined. The flame, of course, is not too high nor too bright, for an accident might befall Jack, and that would be so sad, alas!

Little Tommy Tucker is four and one-half inches high, the same height as Nimble Jack. His trousers are in blue, his blouse in white, and his hair in yellow. The book is in brown, while his shoes are in black, with blue or white socks.

Mary the Contrary waters her garden in a frock of blue and an apron of white. Her bonnet is blue, to match her frock, and the flowers are in green, brown, pink, and white. She is 3 1/2 inches high.

When Pussycat is placed on a stool to give an account of himself, the stool may be in brown or white, and the kitty in black, gray, or yellow. The little girl is in blue, with black shoes, white stockings, and brown hair.

Humpty-Dumpty is outlined in pale tan, and his mouth, eyes, arms, and hands are in brown. The wall is in green and white, while his fitted stockings are in brown.

These motifs are also appropriate for crib spreads and furnishings for the nursery.

BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD

BY EDWARD CLARK

Copyrighted by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD" with Louise Dresser is a Warner picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Betsy Ann Terwilliger, a girl of surpassing beauty, and Hal Chutney, a handsome young man, are trainmates and mutually attracted. Each learns that the other is bound for Hollywood as prize winner of a newspaper contest, to get a movie tryout. Greatly thrilled, they arrive in Hollywood and take rooms in the same boarding house—a place frequently by movie actors. The landlady finds Betsy's face strangely familiar. At the first meal some movie oldtimers discourage the couple, but Marshall, a hanger-on, champions Betsy.

Marshall went on to explain, then, for Betsy's benefit: "Mary Pickford and others like her were the children of accidental fortune. Today, I can teach a girl—a beautiful, intelligent girl like you—more screen technique in one hour than Pickford and her like learned in their first ten years."

Betsy was by this completely restored to her former heights. Ecstatically she began, guided by Marshall's skillful questions, to tell all about herself—about her background, her ambitions, the contest. If Hal at first felt his nose out of joint, his presence out of the picture, he did so with redoubled vengeance when, after supper was concluded and adjournment had been effected to the fragrant, night-soothed porch, Betsy presently was alone on a two-seat swing at a far side of the porch with Marshall, who engaged her in earnest discussion, obviously conferring "fatherly" advice.

When they had first come out on the porch Betsy, loyally conscious of Hal, had insisted, without encouragement from Marshall, that Hal join them. He had done so, but the inevitable clash with Marshall had not been long in coming, bearing out the feeling that had been growing upon Hal that here was an instinctive enemy by laws writ when the tribes of men were molten.

"You'll be wonderfully successful here, little lady," Marshall had said to Betsy, providing the music her heart desired, "and I'll see to it that you get a fair chance. There's plenty of room at the top for smart and beautiful girls. I know, for more than one of the present stars will be only too glad to tell you that they owe their success to my teaching and guidance. That's my business. And I'll be delighted to help you find a real job."

"Miss Terwilliger has a job—a contract—with the Amalgamated Studios. She doesn't need any help," broke in Hal, his voice brittle and frosty on the warm night air.

Betsy, sensing the subdued ire in Hal's manner, glanced at him in surprise; but before she could open her mouth, Marshall snapped: "I'm looking toward the future, when her Amalgamated contract runs out; after all, it's only for two months."

"Yes, but by that time they'll want her for life!" exclaimed Hal stoutly.

Marshall, aware of the grateful and affectionate smile for Hal that glowed upon Betsy's white face in the dark, turned quickly upon a new tack. He shrugged his shoulders carelessly, in a very wise, very sophisticated, very mysterious implication that all was not so simple and above-board as that in the realms of screen endeavor.

"Even for a girl with brains, beauty and talent, there are many barriers to be breached," he explained virtuously to Betsy, stolidly continuing to slight Hal, "and only the advice and encouragement of an experienced friend can keep a girl from bruising her heart beyond repair and losing her talent on those rocks."

"Rats!" declared Hal on general principle.

"Oh, Hal," chided Betsy, "you shouldn't be so cynical. Mr. Marshall is anxious to help us, and I appreciate his kindness. He's the first person we've met here who's said anything but black pictures for us."

"Well, I, for one, prefer to get along on my own two feet. I'll say good-night!" declared Hal, piqued. He turned abruptly and walked away.

Two far different looks followed his tall, loose figure across the dim porch: one, Betsy's, bewildered and pained; the other, Marshall's, triumphant.

The pleasant elderly actor—Hammins, by name—who had defended the contest winners at the supper table was waiting for Hal near the doorway, evidently on purpose.

"Who is that little girl, anyhow?" he asked. "Several of us old timers have been struck by the fact that she seems to remind us of someone. Whom, we don't know. But it stands to reason that as most of our contacts have been in these lines, it must have been someone on the stage or in pictures. Has she ever spoken of any relatives who are theatrical folks?"

"No," said Hal, who despite his plique thrilled to the hint of mystery about this alluring little girl to whom he had given his soul's homage, and who, in turn, seemed to—well, at least, like him. "All I know is that she's an orphan."

They talked a while more, rather awkwardly, for even the unsavory Hal could detect that there was something on Hammins' mind; something that he hesitated to voice. But at length the old fellow blurted tentatively:

"Seems like Marshall has lost no time in striking up a lively acquaintance with the girl."

Hal nodded glumly, wondering why Hammins had beaten around the bush to bring this up—why, in fact, he had brought it up at all. Hal presently explained:

"Miss Terwilliger is so fine and sincere in her determination to make good that she is anxious to receive as much advice as possible, from anyone."

"From anyone" is an apt designation in the case of Marshall. The girl's idea of seeking counsel is well and good up to a certain point; but she'd better be careful as to whom she depends upon for such guidance. Hal took quick fright. "What—what do you mean? That this man will try any monkey business?"

"Young fellow," warned Hammins in a low, guarded tone, "I'm telling you this for your own good—and here, Marshall, there, is a thorough rotter. The sort of man who means no good by any girl in whom he takes an interest. He's responsible for many of the broken hearts of Hollywood. Look to it, son, that he doesn't eat yours, and the girls', to his dirty record!"

CHAPTER IV.

Of all unpropitious times to apply at a motion picture studio for a job, or to corner one, the worst is when a conference is in progress. And as there is rarely a moment of the day or night when a conference of some nature or other is not going on, it would seem to follow that no time is a good time for an applicant or an embryo to show an ambitious face at the casting director's railing.

Conferences . . . conferences . . . conferences! Conferences big, and conferences small . . . short and long . . . lean and fat . . . morning, noon, and night . . . breakfast, luncheon and dinner . . . dawn, twilight, and midnight . . . here, there and everywhere.

There you have a word's eye picture of the moving picture industry at its worst—and best. For strange to say there is a method back of all this seeming mad waste of time; a raison d'être, and it is this: conferences are the dynamo that make the reels go round, that foster the breathless and spontaneous interplay of fact and folly, idea and bunc, upon which the lifeblood of this business depends. What is transacted in less ferocious conferences and enterprises by dignified interoffice correspondence and the systematic use of the written word, is accomplished in motion picture studios by shout and bluster, intrigue and shenanigans; the orderliness of the commercial world is here replaced by necessity by the better-ketter blit and miss methods of a business whose sales virtues are predicated upon novelty of ideas, not upon traditions of service policy; whose success lies in the whimsical measure of its entertainment values, and not in an economic niche as a staple commodity. THE DANGER OF PARIS PLEASURES AT CALIFORNIA

Michael Arlen, famous author of "The Green Hat" and "These Charming People," has reached the screen at last. The new First National picture, "The Danger of Paris," which was shown for the first time at the California last night, represents his initial screening.

Those who number Arlen among their favorites, of which the present writer is one, will be interested and pleased to know that, unlike so many pictures "adapted" from the works of famous authors, "The Danger of Paris" actually represents Arlen in the moments of his most distinctive style.

For this we have Director Alfred A. Santell to thank. There is a touch about his work in the present instance that undeniably has been inspired by the author of the story. Santell has submerged his own personality in that of the author, a great task, for the accomplishment of which he deserves the heartiest laudations.

Incidentally, Santell has also brought out the best in his principal players, Conway Tearle, who is starred, and Dorothy Mackaill and Robert Cain. In the case of the feminine star he has created a new and vibrant screen personality. This, after all, was to be expected, as Santell, in directing both "Coningsby" and "Ben Hur," has brought out the best from these two performers.

Other features include "Your Husband's Past," a Hal Roach comedy; "Marvels in Motion," "International News," and Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Standard Oil of California in Good Condition

That the Standard Oil Company of California has total assets of $567,472,113.85, is shown by the official balance sheet of the company and the initial balance sheet of the Pacific Oil and Standard Oil companies, made public in the May bulletin of the company issued yesterday.

Current assets of the company are nearly four times liabilities according to the report which places the asset at $124,123,814.22 and the current liabilities at $32,537,842.19, of which amount $205,933,331 represents the entire outstanding five per cent gold note issue which will be retired August 1 of this year. This will leave liabilities of about $1,700,000.

Including an earned surplus of $28,614,829.18 of the former company, the total surplus amounts to $109,675,143.42. There are 12,602,134 shares outstanding which are valued at $14,000,000, placing the market value at each share at a little more than $25. The extensive holdings of the company are shown in the report, from which the following is quoted:

The total acreage of the new company in California amounted, as of January 1, 1926, to 317,116 acres, of which 18,976 were developed and the remainder undeveloped. During the year 1925 the combined production of crude oil of the two consolidating companies amounted to 53,602,352 barrels. On December 31, 1925, the daily production was 145,948 barrels, with 27,870 barrels shut in. Through subsidiaries the company holds lands under lease and in fee in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming to a total of 427,000 acres. In Montana during 1925 there was a production of 70,000 barrels of crude oil, and in Texas 513,000 barrels. Through other subsidiaries the company has been prospecting for oil abroad—in Mexico, Argentina, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela, and it has holdings in Mexico.

"California oil fields lie in two sections of the state—in Southern California and in the San Joaquin valley region separated by the Tehachian Mountains. The company's pipelines in Southern California carry crude oil from the various fields to the refinery at El Segundo, on the tide water eighteen miles southwest of Los Angeles. "North of the Tehachian range the pipelines carry crude oil from the various fields to the refinery at Bakersfield in the San Joaquin valley and Richmond, 400 miles away. The company owns and operates a bit of 109 miles of main pipeline system with a daily capacity of 180,000 barrels, and 978 miles of gathering lines. There are twenty-seven pump stations.

"Crude oil passes from the pipelines to the refineries, of which there are three—Richmond, on San Francisco Bay; El Segundo, in Southern California; and at Bakersfield, in the San Joaquin valley. Richmond and El Segundo refine 100,000 barrels of oil a day each and Bakersfield 25,000 barrels a day. Richmond produces for widespread distribution; Bakersfield, principally for contiguous territory.

"Crude oil produces more than 1.00 petroleum products of every kind and grade. During 1925 their combined output amounted to 56,000,000 barrels of petroleum products, and in addition 13,600,000 pounds of greases and 340,000 tons of asphalt."

MAY McAVOY AT HER BEST AT THE RICHMOND

Drama, pathos, thrills, laughs, all are found in "The Road to Glory," latest Fox Film production which ends its local engagement at the Richmond Theatre tonight.

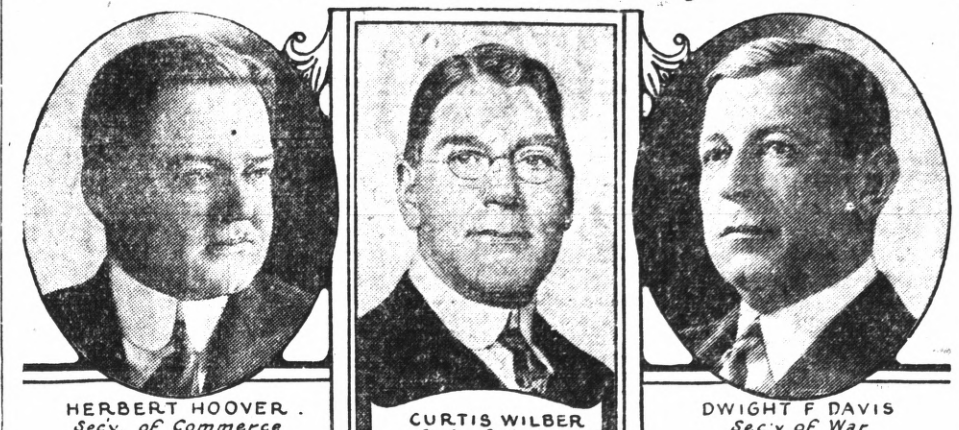

May McAvoy, dainty film star, is seen at her best in the part of carefree Judith Allen, who suddenly finds her happiness shattered by circumstances. From a happy, reckless girl she becomes, overnight, a cynical woman. How she eventually finds happiness makes one of the finest motion picture stories seen here in some time.

Also cast in prominent roles are Leslie Fenton, Ford Sterling and Dorothy Mackaill.

Other features on the same program include "Wild Game," a Lige Conley comedy; "Sportlight," a spot novelty; and "Prizma," the screen magazine.

Starting tomorrow, Hal Roach presents "The Wild Horse," a "Black Cyclone," the love story of a wild horse. Acclaimed by critics as the outstanding photoplay production of recent years.

Federal Oil Conservation Board Set Up by President Coolidge Working in Cooperation With Oil Industry on a Monumental Task.

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER

When President Coolidge designated four members of his Cabinet as the Federal Oil Conservation Board, to investigate and report on the oil industry, he started something of first importance and widest interest. It now develops that a sweeping and thorough survey of the whole oil industry of this country and of the world, its present position and future possibilities, is to be produced. It will be the most comprehensive work of the kind ever undertaken.

Thanks to the fine co-operation between the Conservation Board and the oil industry, there is now assurance that the report will be of great value to the industry, both in this country and throughout the world. Since the war, few industrial subjects have been of wider interest than the supply of petroleum. Every continent and nearly all countries have been the scenes of active search for petroleum; while at the same time scientists and technologists have been redoubting their efforts to insure larger recoveries of oil from the earth, its more complete refinement, and its better utilization.

Instead of conducting an investigation, the Conservation Board has undertaken to bring together all the enormous mass of information which is essential to understanding and dealing with the problem of supplying motor fuel and lubricants. It is expected the board's report will comprise three volumes. The first, dealing with the development and present status of the industry in this country, will cover processes, methods, and relations between the industry and the state and federal governments. It will consider the various regulatory measures that have been applied, and will attempt to appraise them, to determine what have been useful and what have not, and to indicate whether any new policies or methods in this respect are desirable.

The international aspects of petroleum will be dealt with in the

Leiter Defends Himself Against Sister's Charges

(By Universal Service)

FRED VANDERENDER

CHICAGO, June 2.—Old hard working, penny saving Joe Leiter took the witness stand in Judge Conroy E. Sullivan's court today and told the story of his boyhood as a means to the end of denying the allegations of his titled sister, Lady Margaret Hyde Paget, the Countess of Suffolk and Berks. The Countess is the plaintiff in a suit brought against her brother and a sister, Mrs. Nancy Colin Campbell, in which she seeks to oust Joe and William J. Warr as the working trustees of the $6,000,000 estate left by their father, Levi Z. Leiter.

Intimate relations with his father enabled him to know what his father would have done with the money had he been alive, Joe said when he appeared on the witness stand in his own defense.

Then Joe started in to tell the story of his boyhood, spent for the most part in schools and on the western ranches of his father. He was educated in Chicago, Washington, France and Harvard. But the Harvard account wasn't present today. Instead there was the account of the ranches.

Hit hat, which hung on a peg at one side of the court room, looked like a bomb that he might have worn had he been on the ranges now. He also wore a white waistcoat. He looked a typical westerner.

There was a quite a difference in the appearance of Joe and Lady Suffrage. She is a slender, titled personage that she is.

The Countess is basing her suit on the fact that Joe is getting a considerable money on irrigating the Wyoming ranch. She said that wasn't good business and because it wasn't getting him into some other person should be appointed to manage the affair of the estate.

But Joe says the irrigation plan was a good idea and was well worth the money invested. He became interested in irrigation while traveling through Spain, he said.

"My first trip to the ranch was in 1920," Leiter said.

"I was just out of Harvard and to get acquainted with business affairs I worked with the cow punchers at $20 a month. I chopped wood and carried water and just about everything that a laborer did."

By figures and estimates, the attorneys attempted to show by the testimony that he had the fullest confidence of his father. It is on this confidence and the early training he received with his father that he expects to retain working control of the estate.

The trial has now been dragging along for about three months. It is believed it will be one of the most expensive suits ever tried in the local courts.

Loses Life in Big Brush Fire

Burned to death when he was trapped in a brush fire at the base of Mt. Diablo Tuesday night, the body of Victor Larson, 60, a foreman of the Cement Portland Cement plant near Concord, was found several hours later when the fire was brought under control.

More than 100 men formed an emergency fighting force to battle the fire, which for a time threatened the plant of the company. The fire burned over an area of 100 acres and an investigation will be conducted today to ascertain the origin of the blaze.

It is believed that Larson became confused while fighting the blaze and became separated from the crew.

FARREN AND VIERRA READY FOR BIG BOUT

Frankie Farren and Benny Vierra have tapered off training today at their respective gymnasiums in San Francisco and Oakland and are reported to be in the best physical condition for their bout here Friday evening.

A glance at Farren's record proves him to be a "big Poitao" in the ranks of the world's good lightweights. In the past three years he has knocked out such high class lightweights as Johnny Tranbitter, 1 round, at Tacoma, Young Datto, 3 rounds, Los Angeles, Macario Flores, lightweight champion of the Orient, 3 rounds, San Francisco. He has also gained decisions in the past three years over Joe Benjamin, Johnny Reister, Phil Salvatore, Danny Frush, Pal Moran, twice, Pickles Martin, and many other top notches.

Vierra is also holding victories over such nationally known fighters as, Danny Kramer, Jimmy Dundee, Babe Herman, George Lee, and many more. Benny doesn't pack a real knockout punch, although he can hit as he has scored 18 knockouts in his career in the ring, but he makes up for this by his super-cleverness and his uncanny ability to get away from K. O. punches by rolling his head and his amazing speed.

Local boxing followers are witnessing a real main event when they see the Vierra vs Farren mill here tomorrow night.

Young P. Villa will meet Al Robinson in the six-round semi-windup of the evening. The boys weigh 105 pounds, and they are about the best boxers of this weight on the Pacific Coast.

Red Reynolds, Oakland 150 pounder will concede a few pounds to Battling Gibson, Oakland colored battler, but Red can fight so the handicap should not bother him much.

Marty Martinez of Richmond vs. Bud Korn, of Richmond, 145 lbs. Manuel Vasquez vs. Sol Gill, 133 lbs. These boys staged a great go at the last fight show here.

Frankie Neil, ex-bantam weight champion of the world, will referee all of the bouts.

U. S. GOLFERS TAKE LEAD IN CUP MATCHES

(By Universal Service)
 ST. ANDREWS, SCOTLAND, June 2.—When the final putt was sunk to end the first day's Walker cup competition between the American and British golf forces the Americans held a comfortable lead of 3 matches to 1.

The full day's program for the rival teams consisted in four thirty-six hole two ball foursome matches.

Roger Wethered, former British amateur champion and Sir Ernest Holderness scored Britain's lone point when they defeated Francis Quinnet and Jesse Guilford, four and three.

Jesse Sweetser, the newly crowned British amateur champion and George Von Elm, the Pacific Coast star worked together brilliantly to overwhelm the British team of Major C. O. Hezlett, and Robert Harris, whose amateur crown Sweetser now wears, 8 up and 7 to go.

Bobby Jones, America's amateur champion, and his fellow Atlantian, the youthful Watts Gunn, showed the results of their frequent team play together, when the conquered the strong English combination, Cyril Tolley and Andrew Jamieson, four and three.

The match between Robert Gardner, captain of the American Walker cup team, who is paired with Roland Mackenzie, the Washington youth and the Brownlow-Storrey team, developed the most hotly contested battle of the day. The American pair, who started strongly to be six up at the turn, allowed their lead to dwindle till at the thirty-fourth, the match was all square. They finally won out, one up.

NEWSPAPERMAN MARRIES STAR

 Special Wireless to Universal Service.

BERLIN, June 2.—Lincoln Eyre, Berlin Correspondent for the New York Times, married Dina Gralla, Polish screen star known as the "Pola Negri of comedy," aboard the United States liner President Roosevelt, today, according to a wireless dispatch received here.

Capt. George Fried performed the ceremony while the ship's jazz band played the wedding march.

The marriage is revealed as the reason why Miss Gralla declared a strike recently when the famous Players wanted her to sign a new form of contract in which she was to pledge herself not to marry and not to leave Germany.

R-representative Blumenthal of the film concern said tonight, that since the engagement has been known for several months, the marriage will be no bar to her film career.

REFINERY BEATS ALL STANDARDS; SCORE 8 TO 2

ROBERTS GETS HOMER IN 6TH FROM DIMOCK

Heavy Hitting by Both Teams Features S. O. League Contest

Was that a ball game that was played last night? Yes, Maurice, it was. Who won? Why the Refinery beat the All Standards. The score? My Gosh, 8 to 2 favor of Refinery. Yes sir that was the score and that was the game, a hitting, running peppy, plenty of action for a while, dull silence for a while, a hit, a run, to sleep and then over again.

Si Cunningham, the old man of baseball stood in the box for the All Standards and burlied his strength against the Refinery for four innings and then in the start of the fifth, with Young Chick Autry at bat he threw a Joe Fool'em that strained his arm. Then Orr, a new comer stepped into his place and tried to stem the advancing tide.

What was the matter? No one knows. Two times the All Standards had the bases full and no body out and to no avail, not a run could they score at this time. Roberts did a bit of the stick work for the All Standards for in the sixth inning the Hon. Roberts stepped up to the plate and sent a crashing home run over the right field fence.

The Refinery gained their lead in the second inning. McCoy was first up and knocked an easy one to Amedee at second who threw to Fitzgerald. Potts was safe on Matteri's error. Autry took his base by the four ball route. Then up stepped little Spot Duncan who took a look at the ball and—Zowie, a crashing double to center that brought in Autry and Potts. Johnson fouled out to Fitzgerald and then it was Bartram's turn. Promptly he sloughed a single, scoring Duncan.

In the last of this inning the All Standards got / theirs. Two men out and Fitzgerald walked, taking second on a passed ball. Then Matteri got a single, advancing Fitzgerald. Matteri made a dash for second and Potts threw the ball to second plate and in the mean time the little fellow who had perched out on third came dashing in with all eight hitting.

The rest of the game would take too much time, energy and paper to tell.

The All Standards presented a different line up last night. Fitzgerald was switched from right to first base; Amedee held down second; Matteri took Drew's place at third and Roberts, chucker, went to right.

Incidentally we might remark that Chick Autry got his first blingle of the season.

OAKS
It looks as if the Seattle Indians are going to pull a repeater in their series with the Oaks as they did several weeks ago. At this time the Indians took five out of seven games and now they have annexed one, the first game of the series. We wonder if the Oaks will use as many pitchers against the Indians as they did the last time?

JACK JOHNSON
For some time the sporting world was figuring that Jack Johnson had come back in full force and would threaten some of the younger boxers but on Sunday Jack was knocked out when he met Bob Lawrence at Juvon, Mexico. Johnson was knocked to the floor in the seventh round and he claimed a foul but the referee told him he was all wet, but Jack still insists that he lost on a foul.

DEMPEY
Will Dempsey or Rickard follow out the line laid down by the New York boxing commission? That body has told Rickard in no un-

Ironworkers to Play Pittsburg

The Ironworkers, after tasting the sweet fruits of victory will go up against the Pittsburg team of the Three C league there on Sunday. Phil Jones, player-manager of the team, is confident that his men will come through with another victory at this time.

certain words that Dempsey must fight Wills as soon as possible or be suspended from the list. If Dempsey will not fight Wills and if (notice the "if") he fights Gene Tunney, the modest boy, the fight will have to be staged on the Jersey side, unless something happens.

MISSIONS
The Mission team will soon be going to the top of the list if they keep on going as strong as they have been in the past. The addition of Clyde Barfoot to the line up seems to have strengthened the team a couple hundred percent.

Dope Upset in Famous British Derby Yesterday

(By Universal Service)
Special Cable Dispatch
LONDON, June 2.—Beating Colorado, the favorite for the 143rd British derby, Lord Woolavington's Coronach, third choice in $50,000,000 worth of betting on the National classic, won the mile and a half event today by five lengths in 2:47 4-5, or 13 1-5 seconds slower than the derby record. Lancegale, rank outsider figuring at 40 to 1 in the books, and owned by W. Singer, former American and now naturalized Britisher, was second, while Colorado, owned by Lord Derby, and carrying more than $10,000,000 at odds of 2 to 1, was a short head back of Lancegale for third place.

King George, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, Princess Mary and other members of the Royal Family were among the 700,000 who were galloping and makintoshes to brave the rains which almost forced the cancelling of the classic.

Almost equal in interest with the derby itself were the gigantic prizes won in the many sweepstakes made on the race, the first

High Tariff is Indirect Tax Says D. J. Lewis

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—The tariff commission should make its recommendations for rate changes direct to Congress, instead of the president, former Commission David J. Lewis of Maryland, told the Senate tariff investigating committee today.

The "ideal commission" should be composed of two judges taken from the bench, two economists of repute and two publicists, Lewis suggested. Members of Congress know what pressure is and they know how to meet it," he added. Lewis asserted that recommendations by the commission should be filed with the Senate and House. If not disapproved within 30 days, they should then become effective automatically.

Declaring that high tariff rates impose an unreasonable tax burden on consumers, Lewis said:

"This indirect tax helps hide the facts of governmental expenditure. The people are not conscious that they are paying taxes. The weaker point in our constitution is that which permits economic stress to come under political temptation."

To Enlarge Plant For Walnut Crop

Enlargement of the Contra Costa Walnut Growers Association plant at Walnut Creek, has been started preparatory to the harvesting of a crop of walnuts, which he expected to amount to 1000 pounds this year. Present indications point to a record crop in Contra Costa county this year, because of the increase of the maturing trees.

Contra Costa county this year is expected to be second only to Santa Clara county in Northern California in the shipment of walnuts.

streets at 11 o'clock Saturday night," said Mrs. Marshall, "when a dark colored couple passed me. The car slowed down at the street crossing and I had a good opportunity of seeing the occupants of the car.

"The machine was driven by a man, Mrs. McPherson, wearing a tan colored dress, was seated in the rear seat with a woman.

"I am positive that it was Mrs. McPherson. I have known her for several years and I could not be mistaken in my identification."

Mrs. Marshall did not get the license numbers of the car. She is employed as housekeeper by Rabbi Herman Lissauer of Congregation Beth Israel.

Mrs. Marshall did not explain to the police why she waited until this afternoon to notify them that she had seen Mrs. McPherson on Saturday night.

Mrs. J. R. White and two children left last week for New York for an extended visit.

Majority Vote to Rule at Meeting Of the Democrats

(By Universal Service)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 2.—The Democratic party will select its Presidential candidate for the 1928 campaign by a majority vote in the convention, it was indicated here tonight. Party chieftains of Ohio here for the party rally were joined by such national leaders as Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, and United States Senator Wm. H. King of Utah, in demanding that the two-thirds rule be abrogated.

The two-thirds rule, adopted by militant politicians in 1832 to carry out their selfish desires, now operates to no good purpose, Daniels declared.

"Now the hour has struck when the Democratic party must rid itself of this body of death," he said. "It is inconsistent with the spirit of the nation in which the rule of the majority prevails."

Just as long as it is possible for 25 delegates in a convention made up of 1928 delegates to defeat the will of over 600, just so long is it a possible menace.

"Even if this rule did not conceal the possibility of minority vote, the fact that it is the only place in American politics and government in which the majority does not prevail shows it to be both un-American and un-American. In its practical workings it enables the favorite son candidate, by holding firm, to make a mess of the rule, which sits out the really big men."

"The growing number of independent voters makes it increasingly important for the Democratic party to be delivered from a rule that puts a premium on mediocrity."

United States Senator Wm. H. King of Utah, was another speaker. He joined with Daniels in favoring majority rule, but devoted his address to a denunciation of "Daughertyism and Newberryism" and the heartlessness of the G.O.P. and President Coolidge's policies.

"The most important thing," said Senator King, "is the preservation of individual rights and local self-government against the new federal system which is centralizing all authority in Washington and is building up the most oppressive bureaucracy in the history of this country."

Daniels, in conversation with newsmen after the meeting said that abolition of the two-thirds rule would mean the death of long drawn out national conventions such as the last one held in New York and would mean less strife and ill-will within the party.

BROWN ESTATE
Letters of administration in the $1,250 estate of the late Mrs. Myrtle M. Brown of Richmond were filed in Superior Court in Martinez yesterday by Francis P. Healey, nominee of the husband of the deceased.

A son was born to Mrs. Stephen Huzefka yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Huzefka's mother, Mrs. Joseph Snelling, 671 Twentieth street. Both mother and son are reported to be doing well.

"While the American farmers are going into bankruptcy, the administration under this pact would cancel $5,000,000,000 of the French debt," charged Raimcy. "Ratify this pact and you will help our farmers by improving the French market for our crops, particularly cotton, which is heavily consumed in France," replied Crisp.

Answering a charge by Raimcy that the settlement was a "disgraceful attempt to settle an honorable debt with a world power at 50 cents on the dollar," Crisp said that this reckoning was based on 4 1-2 per cent interest rates, which were not customary for governments to pay in normal times.

Lezier (D) of Missouri, said he thought that "the trouble with France is not her ability to pay but her willingness." France made huge territorial gains out of the war and in time they would be highly productive in revenue, he declared.

Defending the settlement, Gibson (R) of Vermont, recalled the aid given America by France in the Revolutionary war.

"I thought that France was prompted chiefly by love of a republican government, when she aided us in the revolution, but later I discovered that she was not actuated so much by love of the struggling colonies as she was to strike indirectly at her ancient enemy, England," shot back Howard (D) of Nebraska.

After Hill (R) of Maryland, pictured France as barely existing, Berser (R) of Wisconsin, said she was the most prosperous country in Europe.

France could pay $5,000,000,000 more than the pact provided, declared Hasting (D) of Oklahoma. He claimed that the debt-fundings had magnified France's present plight and had not given adequate consideration to the distant future, when France is expected to be on the highway of prosperity.

Barn Dance of Sciots Expected To Draw Big Gathering to the East Shore Park on Saturday

By THE LOST NOMAD

Everybody is talking about this here barn yard fiesta and shin dig which is to be given by the Richmond Sciots on Saturday night at East Shore park and if you don't believe it take a slant at these two young ladies who got out some of their 1899 costumes yesterday and rehearsed for the event.

It is not known if they are talking about their husbands or the best way to get them to leave the hall for a few moments during the evening, so that they will be able to dance the latest steps with some of the barmy sheiks, who should be on hand now that the haying season is over.

Our C. M. who gave us the excellent pictures which we used yesterday morning, passed along the one which appears at the bottom of this yarn. He claims that it is a true depiction of one of the minions of the law, after tussling with the dance committee on the dancing of the Charleston.

The scene is alleged to depict what happened to one of the leading Sciots none other than Chief of Police Dan Cox, after he had insisted that the dancing of the latest steps was shaking all of the plaster off of the city hall rooms and that it was causing the pavement on Grand boulevard to buckle and warp.

The office boy insists that it would take nothing less than an elephant doing the Charleston and a toe dance combined to make all of the beautiful washboard effects of the avenue which may be corrected some day. The condition of the street, however, should not prohibit your getting to the dance and in view of the fact that two door prizes and an excellent orchestra will be among the attractions, a few bumps will be well repaid.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stender, 111 Nevada avenue returned yesterday from a two weeks vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Jones, 14 Seventh street, returned yesterday from a week end trip to Plumas county.

Martinez Loses In Attempt to Reduce Insurance

Reduction of rates for fire insurance in Martinez were denied yesterday when a representative of the Pacific Coast Board of Fire Underwriters unexpectedly visited that city yesterday and found two fire engines incapable of use.

As the result of the findings, Engineer Loren S. Bush of the Underwriters indefinitely postponed a survey of the city's fire fighting equipment and delayed action on the new gradings planned for Martinez.

Lack of base for the second fire engine and lack of a third exit from the firehouse prevents new gradings for Martinez," Bush declared.

With three pieces of fire apparatus, the Martinez firehouse has but two exits.
